CHAPTER III
AGRICULTURAL WATER MANAGEMENT

Section 18. Where the Central Land Consolidation Office or landowner in an agricultural area wishes to have agricultural water management in any area, the Central Land Consolidation Office shall prepare a project therefor and propose it to the Central Land Consolidation Committee.

The project proposed under paragraph one must indicate the boundaries of the area where agricultural water management is to be made, water source to be used in agricultural water management, number of landowners operating agriculture, type of agricultural operation, feasibility and justification for implementation and benefit to the community, in accordance with the rules prescribed in the notification of the Central Land Consolidation Committee published in the Government Gazette.

Section 19. Where the Central Land Consolidation Committee considers it appropriate to have agricultural water management and it is the area not yet announced to be a land consolidation project area, the Committee shall propose to the Minister of Agriculture and Cooperatives to issue a notification designating the boundaries of agricultural water management survey in that area. Such notification must have a rough map showing the locality to be surveyed.

Section 20. Within the boundaries of the agricultural water management survey area prescribed by the Minister under Section 19, the competent officer or person performing duties jointly with the competent officer shall have the powers to:

(1) enter land of any person to survey the area for constructing irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms or to do other acts necessary for agricultural water management;

(2) make any marks by planting posts, digging furrows or installing mapping controls on the land of any person as the boundaries for proceeding;

(3) dig the ground, cut off branches or todo any acts against obstacles to the survey as necessary.

In entering any person's land for proceeding under paragraph one, the competent officer shall notify the owner or possessor of the immovable property reasonably in advance, and must take care to minimize the impact on utilization by the owner or possessor of the immovable property.

Section 21. After the competent officer has completed survey and preparation of the preliminary agricultural water management layout, he shall hold a meeting of the landowners operating agriculture within the boundaries of the agricultural water management survey to select among themselves to be the community water management committee to act as representatives of landowners in that area.

The method of selection and the number of members in the community water management committee shall be as agreed among the landowners present at the meeting.

The Local Administrators of all jurisdictions within the agricultural water management survey area shall be membersex officio in the community water management committee.

Section 22. The competent officer shall, jointly with the community water management committee, consider the making of irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms or other relevant acts so that the allocation of water will be made all over and sufficiently for the agricultural area, provided that consent must be given by landowners for the making of irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms and any other acts in connection with the agricultural water management through their lands, for further forwarding to the Central Land Consolidation Office.

THE ORIGINAL THAI TEXT AS FORMALLY ADOPTED AND PUBLISHED SHALL IN ALL EVENTS REMAIN THE SOLE AUTHORITY HAVING LEGAL FORCE.

The making of irrigation system shall take into account the allocation of water to landowners who wish to use water for agriculture, convenience in transportation of agricultural produce, based as much as possible on the boundaries of the existing area and without posing onerous burden on any particular landowner.

Section 23. After the Central Land Consolidation Office has approved the agricultural water management layout for any area, it shall propose to the Director-General to announce the agricultural water management area, whereby such announcement must show the agricultural water management layout and land map within its boundaries, and the announcement shall be posted at the city hall, district office, local administration organization office, and the densely populated zone in the agricultural water management area.

Section 24. After there is the announcement of the agricultural water management area under Section 23, the competent officer or persons performing duties jointly with the competent officer shall have the power to enter the lands or make use of the lands within the boundaries under such announcement to construct irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms and do other acts necessary for agricultural water management.

In proceeding by the competent officer under paragraph one, if necessary, the competent officer may, upon approval by the Chief of the Central Land Consolidation Office, modify such layout as appropriate to the condition of the area or for the purposes of the construction, provided that the modification of the layout must cause least damage to landowners.

The entry into or making use of land under paragraph one shall be governed by the provisions of paragraph two of Section 20 mutatis mutandis.

DISCLAIMER: THIS TEXT HAS BEEN PROVIDED FOR EDUCATIONAL/ COMPREHENSION PURPOSES AND CONTAINS NO LEGAL AUTHORITY. THE OFFICE OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE SHALL ASSUME NO RESPONSIBILITY FOR ANY LIABILITIES ARISING FROM THE USE AND/OR REFERENCE OF THIS TEXT. THE ORIGINAL THAI TEXT AS FORMALLY ADOPTED AND PUBLISHED SHALL IN ALL EVENTS REMAIN THE SOLE AUTHORITY HAVING LEGAL FORCE.

Section 25. Agricultural water management and maintenance of structures constructed within the agricultural water management area shall be in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Director-General in a notification published in the Government Gazette.

The notification under paragraph one shall specify the competent officer in charge and authorization for the local administration organization or other organization to proceed instead.

The competent officer or person performing duties jointly with the competent officer under paragraph two shall have the power to enter lands or make use of lands within the agricultural water management area for the purposes of proceeding under paragraph one.

The entry into or making use of land under paragraph three shall be governed by the provisions of paragraph two of Section 20 mutatis mutandis.

Section 26. Payment for expenses incurred in agricultural water management, repair and maintenance, use of water for the benefit of agricultural business operation or use of excessive water by a landowner in the agricultural water management area shall be in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Central Land Consolidation Committee in a notification published in the Government Gazette.

If the expenses incurred in repair and maintenance are higher than the landowners can bear and if it is intended for public interest, upon request by the landowners, the Royal Irrigation Department or the local administration organization may provide financial support or may carry it out instead as deemed appropriate.

In prescribing rules, procedure and conditions under paragraph one, the Central Land Consolidation Committee may consider reducing or exempting the payment and prescribing or extending the period of payment as deemed appropriate.

THE OFFICE OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE SHALL ASSUME NO RESPONSIBILITY FOR ANY LIABILITIES ARISING FROM THE USE AND/OR REFERENCE OF THIS TEXT. THE ORIGINAL THAI TEXT AS FORMALLY ADOPTED AND PUBLISHED SHALL IN ALL EVENTS REMAIN THE SOLE AUTHORITY HAVING LEGAL FORCE.

Section 27. No person shall construct a water drainage to connect with the irrigation system or do any act to supply, store or drain water from the irrigation system, unless done in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Director-General under Section 25 or unless permitted by the competent officer.

Section 28. No person shall cause damage to, or inconvenience for use of, the irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms.

Section 29. No person shall store water for use more than necessary for his land or do any other act that obstructs the supply, storage or drainage of water, which causes other persons to be unable to receive water from the irrigation system.

Section 30. In an agricultural water management area, land may not be used for purposes other than agriculture, unless permitted in writing by the Central Land Consolidation Committee or person authorized by it.

CHAPTER IV LAND CONSOLIDATION

Section 31. Where the Central Land Consolidation Office or landowners in an agricultural area wishes to have land consolidation in agricultural area or area in an agricultural water management area, the Central Land Consolidation Office shall prepare a project therefor and submit it to the Central Land Consideration Committee.

Submission of the project under paragraph one shall be governed by the provisions of paragraph two of Section 18 mutatis mutandis.

Section 32. Where the Central Land Consolidation Committee considers it appropriate to designate any agricultural area or area in an agricultural water management

DISCLAIMER: THIS TEXT HAS BEEN PROVIDED FOR EDUCATIONAL/ COMPREHENSION PURPOSES AND CONTAINS NO LEGAL AUTHORITY. area to be a land consolidation project area for proceeding under this Act, it shall propose to the Council of Ministers for enacting a Royal Decree designating land consideration survey area. In the Royal Decree there shall be a rough map showing the locality to be surveyed.

The Royal Decree under paragraph one shall be effective for five years.

Section 33. During the effectiveness of the Royal Decree under Section 32, no person shall dispose of, create encumbrances over, or do any act that may cause appreciation of the assessed price of, the land in the locality to be surveyed for land consolidation, pursuant to the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Central Land Consolidation Committee in a notification published in the Government Gazette, unless permitted in writing by the Central Land Consolidation Committee or person authorized by it.

If there is any act that causes the assessed price of the land to appreciate without permission under paragraph one, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall not include the appreciated land price in the assessed price of such land and properties thereon. If anything so constructed is a property that may cause damage to or obstruct land consolidation, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall have the power to order the landowner in writing to make removal within the specified period, failing which the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall have the power to make removal whereby the landowner may not claim any damages and shall also bear the expenses incurred in such removal.

Section 34. After there is the Royal Decree under Section 32, if the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee considers it appropriate to consolidate the land that is public domain of the state within the area under such Royal Decree, the following shall be proceeded:

(1) If in that area there is land that is public domain of the state for common use by the people or is land which the people cease to utilize or has changed from the status of being land for common use by the people and is not owned by any person, the Royal Decree under Section 32 shall take the effect of withdrawal of such land's status of public domain of the state, without having to proceed with withdrawal under the Land Code, and the Royal Irrigation Department shall have the power to use such land in the land consolidation.

(2) If in that area there is land that is public domain of the state for use exclusively for the benefit of the state or land reserved or restricted pursuant to the requirements of the government service, upon the consent by the Ministry of Finance, the Royal Decree under Section 32 shall take the effect of withdrawal of such land's status of public domain of the state, without having to proceed with withdrawal under the Land Code or the law on state property, and the Royal Irrigation Department shall have the power to use such land in the land consolidation.

(3) If in that area there is land that is public domain of the state and is waste land or land surrendered or abandoned or otherwise vested in the state under the Land Code and it composes of small plots of land, the Royal Irrigation Department shall have the power to use such land in the land consolidation.

If the land withdrawn under (1) and (2) is land for common use by the people or is used exclusively for the benefit of the state or is land reserved or restricted pursuant to the requirements of the government service, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall arrange for such land to remain land for common use by the people or for use exclusively for the benefit of the state or land reserved or restricted pursuant to the requirements of the government service. If it cannot be done, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall provide other plot of land within the area under the Royal Decree as replacement.

After proceeding under paragraph two, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall, with the approval of the Central Land Consolidation Committee, publish a notification in the Government Gazette and there shall be a rough map showing the scope of that land attached to the notification, and such land shall be public domain of the state in the same manner as that before the enactment of the Royal Decree under Section 32.

Section 35. In a locality under the Royal Decree under Section 32, the competent officer or person performing jointly with the competent officer shall have the powers to:

- (1) enter land of any person to survey the area to be covered by the land consolidation project;
- (2) make any marks by planting posts, digging furrows or installing mapping controls on the land of any person as the boundaries for proceeding;
- (3) dig the ground, cut off branches or to do any acts against obstacles to the survey as necessary.

The proceeding under paragraph one shall be governed by the provisions of paragraph two of Section 20 mutatis mutantis.

Section 36. After the competent officer has completed survey of the area, a preliminary land consolidation project layout shall be prepared showing the boundaries of the existing land before the land consolidation and boundaries to be adjusted pursuant to the land consolidation project, and an announcement thereof shall be posted at the local administration organization office and the densely populated zone in the area of the preliminary land consolidation project layout, for information of the landowners in the area to be proceeded under the preliminary land consolidation project layout.

Section 37. The competent officer shall hold a meeting of the landowners within the boundaries of the preliminary land consolidation project layout under Section 36 to inquire their willingness in land consolidation. If consent is given to the land consolidation by at least three-fourths of all landowners and the amount of land is not less than one-half of that of the preliminary land consolidation project layout, the landowners shall elect among themselves to be a community land consolidation committee to act as representative of landowners of that locality.

The election and appointment of the Community Land Consolidation Committee under paragraph one shall be governed by the provisions of paragraph two and paragraph three of Section 21 mutatis mutandis.

Section 38. The competent officer shall, jointly with the Community Land Consolidation Committee, review the preliminary land consolidation project layout prepared by the competent officer, and shall adjust the land consolidation project layout pursuant to the need of the Community Land Consolidation Committee and to benefit agricultural operation.

In proceeding under paragraph one, the Community Land Consolidation Committee shall also inquire the opinion of the landowners within the area of the preliminary land consolidation project layout.

The competent officer shall have the duties to provide advice, explain information and suggest the method of preparation of the land layout, irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms and other public utilities in the land consolidation project, and shall prepare the land consolidation project layout taking into account the suggestions of the Community Land Consolidation Committee.

Section 39. The competent officer shall propose the land consolidation project layout to the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee for its consideration and approval and for further forwarding to the Central Land Consolidation Committee for announcing the land consolidation project area.

The announcement of land consolidation project area under paragraph one shall show the land map, arrangement of irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms and public utilities within the area, including list of landowners, and the announcement shall be posted at the city hall, district office, local administration organization office and the densely populated zone in the land consolidation project area.

Where the announcement of the land consolidation project area under paragraph one has designated the same land area as the land in the agricultural water management area under Section 23, it shall take the effect of withdrawal of such land from the agricultural water management area, and such land shall become land within the land consolidation project area.

In case of problem concerning agricultural water management on the land under paragraph one, which may not be proceeded in accordance with the rules for land consolidation, it shall be proceeded as prescribed by the Central Land Consolidation Committee in a notification published in the Government Gazette.

Section 40. In a land consolidation project area, the competent officer or person performing jointly with the competent officer shall have the powers to:

- (1) enter it to do any acts necessary for land consolidation;
- (2) enter it to conduct survey to re-determine the land plot arrangement layout, construct irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms, level the ground and to do other acts involving land consolidation;
- (3) mark the level, scope and boundaries.

Where necessary and appropriate, the competent officer shall have the power to cut off or remove trees, floras, fences or any things as necessary for land consolidation.

In carrying out the provisions of paragraph one and paragraph two, no entry shall be made into a building, yard or area fenced and adjacent to a house that is a residence, unless the owner or possessor of the immovable property has given permission or has been notified of the same for at least three days before beginning to do so.

Section 41. The Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall issue a letter to a landowner, mortgagee, purchaser in a sale with right of redemption or holder of the land right document of land in the land consolidation project area under Section 39 to bring or submit the land right document together with document of right relating to that land, to the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee at the place and within the period specified.

Section 42. An interested person shall be entitled to request an examination of documents and evidence and to object to right to land under paragraph two of Section 39 by filing an objection to the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee within 60 days from the date of posting of the announcement.

Where there is an objector under paragraph one, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall have the power to conduct investigation and to require any persons to make a statement or submit relevant documents as necessary, and to make a decision as deemed appropriate, and notify such decision in writing to persons concerned.

Any concerned person who is dissatisfied with the decision under paragraph two shall be entitled to file an appeal to the Central Land Consolidation Committee within 30 days from the date of receipt of the decision.

The Central Land Consolidation Committee shall complete its consideration of the appeal within 90 days from the date of receipt of the appeal and shall notify the decision in writing to persons concerned.

The decision of the Central Land Consolidation Committee shall be final.

While the objection or appeal so filed is pending, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee may continue to proceed with the land consolidation.

Section 43. In a land consolidation project area, if any existing plot of land has been mortgaged before the announcement of the land consolidation project area under Section 39, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall work out a compromise so that the landowner can remove the mortgage or so that the contractual parties can agree to replace the mortgage with the new plot of land received by the mortgagor landowner under the land consolidation project.

Where the contractual parties agree to replace the mortgage with a new plot of land under paragraph one, registration of mortgage removal and the new mortgage shall be exempt from fees for mortgage registration under the Land Code.

Section 44. In a land consolidation project area, if any existing plot of land has been sold with right of redemption before the announcement of the land consolidation project area under Section 39, the right to redeem the property of the seller or person specified in Section 497 of the Civil and Commercial Code shall follow the new plot of land received by the purchaser in the sale with right of redemption under the land consolidation project.

Section 45. The Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall, in the land consolidation project area, proceed to:

- (1) assess the price of land and other properties on every plot of land in that land consolidation project area;
- (2) fix details of land consolidation and public utilities to be utilized in common;
- (3) specify the plots of land to be allocated to the original landowners and persons entitled to acquire land in the land consolidation;
- (4) perform other acts concerning land consolidation.

Section 46. In the land consolidation project area, if any landowner does not agree to the land consolidation or fails to come to contact and give consent or refuses to give consent or if the landowner does not use such land to carry on any activity by himself or allows other person to lease or utilize that land, the Director-General shall have the power to purchase such land for the purposes of land consolidation.

If the landowner under paragraph one refuses to sell the land or offers to sell it at a price higher than the assessed price under Section 45 (1), and if the Director-General considers it necessary to acquire that land or immovable property, such land or immovable property shall be expropriated under the law on expropriation of immovable property.

Where that plot of land is not purchased or expropriated in whole, and the landowner under paragraph one uses water from the irrigation system, road or transportation route on farm or anything constructed in the land consolidation project area, such landowner shall pay expenses for the use thereof, including expenses for repair and maintenance under Section 53, in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Central Land Consolidation Committee.

Section 47. In the land consolidation project area, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall fix the boundaries for constructing irrigation system, roads or transportation routes on farms and other public utilities for common utilization by landowner of every plot of land.

The value of land employed under paragraph one shall be deducted from the assessed value of land and other properties on each plot of land in proportion to the assessed value before determination of new plot of land, regardless of whether the land so employed comes from any plot of land.

The value of land and other properties on each plot of land shall, after deduction under paragraph two, be deemed the net value of land for determination of the new plot of land under Section 48.

Section 48. In determining the new plot of land, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall arrange for each landowner to receive land on his original plot of land or to receive the original plot of land in part or arrange a new plot of land that is close to his original plot of land as much as possible, and arrange for the newly-received land to have the value as close to the net value of his original land as possible. In this connection, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall make an appointment of meeting of the landowners to reach agreement on the determination of new plots of land on the said basis.

After the agreement on determination of new plots of land under paragraph one is reached, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall post an announcement of the map of new plots of land together with their respective landowners at the city hall, district office, local administration organization office and the densely populated zone in the land consolidation project area.

Agreement on exchange of lands may be made whereby the relevant landowners shall notify the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee in writing to change the owners of land plots within 30 days from the date of posting of the announcement.

If any landowner disagrees to the determination of new plot of land under paragraph one, he shall be entitled to file an objection and appeal, and the provisions of Section 42 shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Section 49. The value of land and other properties on land which the landowner of each plot of land has surrendered for public use under paragraph one of Section 47 shall not exceed seven percent of the assessed value of the original land.

If the value of land and other properties on the land under paragraph one of Section 47 exceeds seven percent of the assessed value of the original land, the Royal Irrigation Department shall pay compensation to each landowner for the difference.

Section 50. After completion of determination of new plots of land under Section 48, if any landowner receives land and other properties on land with assessed value higher or lower than the net value of the original land, such landowner shall pay or receive the difference as compensation, in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Central Land Consolidation Committee.

Section 51. After the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee has completed the determination of plots of land to be allocated to the original landowners or persons entitled to acquire land in the land consolidation under Section 45 (3), the competent officer under the Land Code shall issue a land right document for the respective plot of land in the land consolidation project area in accordance with the rules and procedure prescribed in ministerial regulations.

Issuance of a land right document under paragraph one shall be exempt from fees.

After the land right document is issued under paragraph one, the original one shall be cancelled.

Section 52. Management of irrigation system in the land consolidation project area, maintenance of structures constructed and the powers of the competent officer or person authorized by him shall be governed by the provisions of Section 25 mutatis mutandis.

Section 53. Payment of expenses incurred in the land consolidation, repair and maintenance for use of water for the benefit of agricultural business operation or excessive use of water by a landowner in the land consolidation project area shall be in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Central Land Consolidation Committee in a notification published in the Government Gazette.

If the expenses incurred in repair and maintenance are higher than the landowners can bear and if it is intended for public interest, upon request by the landowners, the Royal Irrigation Department or the local administration organization may provide financial support or may carry it out instead.

In prescribing rules, procedure and conditions under paragraph one, the Central Land Consolidation Committee may consider reducing or exempting the payment and prescribing or extending the period of payment as deemed appropriate.

Section 54. Within the period of five years from the date of receipt of a land right document for land in the land consolidation project area, the landowner or person acquiring right to land may not transfer the right to such land to other person except inheritance, transfer to legal heirs, transfer to an agricultural cooperative or farmers' group under the law on cooperatives, or transfer to the Royal Irrigation Department for the purposes of land consolidation, or except with the written permission from the Central Land Consolidation Committee or person authorized by it.

Within the period under paragraph one, land in the land consolidation project area shall not be subject to execution.

Section 55. If the right to any plot of land in the land consolidation project area has been transferred to any person under Section 54, the transferee shall be responsible to continue to pay the expenses under Section 53 in place of the transferor until completion, and such expenses shall be deemed preferential right already registered under the Civil and Commercial Code.

Section 56. In a land consolidation project area, land may not be used for purposes other than for agriculture or any structure may not be constructed or any act may not be done against that land, which may cause damage to land consolidation, unless permitted in writing by the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee or person authorized by it, in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Central Land Consolidation Committee in a notification published in the Government Gazette.

If there is a violator of the provisions of paragraph one, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall have the power to order the violator to make removal, restoration or refrain from such act within the specified period. If the violator fails to comply therewith, upon posting the order at that place, local administration organization office and the densely populated zone in the land consolidation project area for a period of at least 30 days and if there is no compliance with that order, the Provincial Land Consolidation Committee shall proceed with removal or restoration whereby the violator may not claim damages and shall also pay for the expenses incurred in the removal or restoration.

Section 57. In a land consolidation project area, no person shall:

(1) pour out or dump anything or grow any plants in the area of irrigation system, road or transportation route on farm, which causes damage to the land consolidation task;

(2) let any animal go on to the area of irrigation system, road or transportation route on farm, which causes damage to the land consolidation task.

(3) construct any water drainage to connect with the irrigation system or do anything against the irrigation system in order to supply, store or drain water from the irrigation system, unless done in accordance with the rules, procedure and conditions prescribed by the Director-General or unless permitted by the competent officer;

(4) cause damage to, or render it inconvenient to make use of, the irrigation system, road or transportation route on farm or anything used in common by the public.

(5) store water for use more than necessary for his land or do any other act that obstructs the supply, storage or drainage of water, causing other person to be unable to receive water from the irrigation system.

Section 58. For the purposes of survey, investigation and implementation of land consolidation under this Act, a Central Land Consolidation Committee member, Provincial Land Consolidation Committee member and the competent officer shall have the powers to:

(1) enter any land or place in the land consolidation project area;

(2) issue letter requiring any person to make a statement or to submit documents or anything involved with the implementation of land consolidation, as necessary.

Section 59. In performing under Section 35, Section 40 and Section 58 (1), a Central Land Consolidation Committee member, Provincial Land Consolidation Committee member or competent officer shall act between sunrise and sunset, whereby the landowner or person acquiring right to land shall provide reasonable assistance. In this connection, the competent officer must show his identity card to those concerned.

The identity card of the competent officer shall be in accordance with the form prescribed in the notification of the Minister.

CHAPTER V LAND COUSOLIDATION FUND

Section 60. A fund called the “Land Consolidation Fund” shall be established in the Royal Irrigation Department, comprising money and properties under Section 61 as working capital and expenses for agricultural water management and land consolidation.

Revenue received from agricultural water management and land consolidation shall be remitted into the Land Consolidation Fund account without having to remit it into the treasury as state revenue.

Spending out of the Land Consolidation Fund shall only be made for agricultural water management and land consolidation or for providing financial assistance or credit facility to landowners of lands in an agricultural water management survey area, agricultural water management area, land consolidation survey area or land consolidation project area through a financial institution, in accordance with the rules or regulations prescribed, with the approval of the Ministry of Finance, by the Central Land Consolidation Committee.

After the revenue-expenditure report is audited by the Office of the Auditor General of Thailand, an audit report shall be prepared and submitted to the Council of Ministers for further forwarding to the House of Representatives and the Senate.

The Royal Irrigation Department shall keep money of the Land Consolidation Fund and disburse from it for spending under this Act.

Section 61. The Land Consolidation Fund comprises:

- (1) money received from national budget;
- (2) money received from the Farmer Aid Fund under the law on farmer aid fund.
- (3) money or other properties received from the government, local or foreign sources, international organizations or other persons;
- (4) money, interest or any benefits received by the Central Land Consolidation Office involving implementation of land consolidation and expenses for agricultural water management or land consolidation paid or payable by landowners or persons acquiring right to land, as the case may be, under Section 26 or Section 53;
- (5) penalties received from settlement under Section 68.
